

Anthology Award Competition Entry Form

in association with the David St John Thomas Charitable Trust

Organised by Writing Magazine and supported by the David St John Thomas Charitable Trust, the annual Writers' Circle Anthology Award offers a £250 first prize for the year's best anthology produced by a writers' group.

Anthologies will be judged on a range of criteria, including the variety and quality of writing, level of group involvement and overall production, so your group will need to include a brief account (up to 500 words) of how the book was produced, its aims, and how sales are being handled. To be eligible, your anthology must have been published in print form between 1 January and 31 December 2013.

Entry is free.
